Hello Charger family!

I hope you and your family are safe and well during this time. I know the transition to online learning has been a challenge, but I am confident our students and teachers will navigate this together. To help our students and teachers move forward in a positive direction, the following changes have been implemented. These changes will begin Tuesday April 14, 2020.

First, we are moving to a 4-day academic work week for students. New assignments will be given at the beginning of each week, with Friday now being used as a “catch-up” day for students. New work will not be assigned on Fridays, however, teachers may have assignments due on Fridays. Please use the Family Portal to check teacher webpages regularly for updates. Our teachers will be involved in timely and meaningful professional development meetings to address the needs of students during this time.

Next, all teachers are now accepting “late work” from students for partial credit. Students and parents should continue to check grades on the Family Portal and email teachers with questions. All work assigned during this time is due at the end of quarter four (Wednesday, May 6, for seniors, and Tuesday May 19, for freshmen, sophomores and juniors).

Our teachers have increased their office hours to better serve students, and many have signed up for Zoom conference sessions to provide “face-to-face” office hours for students. The grid will be published on our website. Teachers will send out Zoom meeting invitations to students via email.

Lastly, our teachers have done their best to communicate with students using their St. Joes email account. Our teachers ask that students respond to emails once they’ve read them. This helps us figure out which students and families we need to follow up with in a timely fashion.

Please reach out to Ms. Wagner at Danielle.wagner@stjoeshs.org with any questions regarding these changes.

Be safe and well Charger family,

Ms. Wagner
